Notice of Delayed Production and Apology

Dear Customers,

Thank you very much for your continued support.

The global shortage of semiconductors and several parts has impeded the procurement of components, which has led to the delayed production of certain models of our products that we announced in September of 2021.

We sincerely apologize for any inconvenience experienced by customers who have ordered or who are considering the purchase of such products.

Anyway, we are making every effort to normalize production in our domestic and overseas plants as soon as possible.

Your all understanding about these severe conditions will be much appreciated.

Sincerely,

 Denyo Co., Ltd.
